Island County Bike Map

The information on this map is being provided so that you can decide what route would best suit your interests and skills. You will find information about shoulders and hills, but because Whidbey and Camano Islands have mainly rural county roads, you will not find traffic information. Please NOTE: Higher traffic volumes and speeds will be encountered along state highways. While enjoying our beautiful county, please follow the rules of the road and ride predictably.

USING THIS MAP

- Island County is comprised of mostly rural roads.
- Know your skill level and comfort level sharing the road with motor vehicles.
- Use the legend to select a route that matches your skill level.
- Road conditions can change; always check construction schedules with the appropriate agency.

  For County roads, contact: Island County Public Works / 360-679-7331.

  For State roads, contact: Washington State Department of Transportation / 360-848-7230.
- Traffic volumes are heavier in summer months.
- Follow the rules of the road.

  (Bicyclists have the same rights, duties, and responsibilities as motor vehicle drivers).
- Ride at your own risk and safety.

Project Coordination:

For comments, questions and suggestions, please contact Island County Public Works at 360-679-7331.

This map is made possible by a grant from the Federal Highway Administration. Special thanks to Darcy and John Patterson of Bicycles Northwest, Sherry Mays and Dennis Keough of Wheels on Whidbey, Roy Daniel of Island Transit, Matt Nash, Island County Public Works, and Peter Pehl.

English Boom Wildlife Viewing Area

Located on the north end of Camano Island, this serene county facility offers sweeping views of Whidbey Island and the mainland.

Bike and Ride

Island Transit is FARE FREE and every bus is equipped with a bike rack. For route and schedule information go to: www.islandtransit.org or call 360-678-7771

CYCLING ISLAND COUNTY

Whether you are looking for a day ride or a touring adventure, you will find your trip in Island County. This map is intended to provide cyclists with information about our scenic roads to help plan your trip. Because Whidbey and Camano Islands are mainly rural communities, the traffic along our county roads is fairly light. However, you will experience higher volumes and speeds along the state highways.
